Announcing the latest addition to the series of . . .

Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States

RICHARD NIXON, 1970

The volume contains public messages and statements, verbatim transcripts of the President's news conferences, and other selected papers released by the White House from January 1 through December 31, 1970.

In the Foreword to the book President Nixon writes, "The story of the year, for me and for the administration team working with me, was above all a story of building for peace. Peace, we believed from the beginning, does not come to the passive; and so we pressed on through 1970 with a determination that the United States should act creatively, not merely react reflexively, on the world stage."

Among the items that are a part of the record for 1970 are addresses to the Nation on progress toward peace in Vietnam and in Southeast Asia; reports on the Cambodian sanctuary operation; speeches made by the President during his five-nation European tour; and the President's television interview on foreign policy with representatives of the three major networks.

The 1305-page clothbound volume, fully indexed, is available to the public at $15.75 per copy.

Similar volumes are available covering the Administrations of Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Johnson, and the first year of President Nixon.

All volumes in the "Public Papers" series are sold by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Distribution for official use is governed by the provisions of sections 32.15–32.19 of Title 1 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Captive Nations Week, 1972

Proclamation 4143. July 15, 1972

By the President of the United States of America
a Proclamation

The cause of human rights and personal dignity remains a universal aspiration. Yet, in much of the world, the struggle for freedom and independence continues. It is appropriate, therefore, that we who value our own precious heritage should manifest our sympathy and understanding for those to whom these benefits are denied. The Eighty-Sixth Congress on July 17, 1959, by a joint resolution, authorized and requested the President to proclaim the third week of July in each year as Captive Nations Week in support of this sentiment.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning July 16, 1972, as Captive Nations Week.

I call upon the people of the United States to observe this week with appropriate ceremonies and activities, and I urge them to give renewed devotion to the just aspirations of all peoples for self-determination and human liberty.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this fifteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred ninety-seventh.

Disaster Assistance Following Tropical Storm Agnes

The President's Message to the Congress Proposing Legislation With Regard to Disaster Loans, Supplemental Appropriations, and Highway Emergency Relief Authority. July 17, 1972

To the Congress of the United States:

Tropical Storm Agnes has caused unparalleled destruction in many areas of the eastern United States. More than 128,000 homes and businesses have been damaged or destroyed, and whole communities have been dealt a heavy blow. The losses to so many individuals cannot be measured only in terms of destruction of property and belongings; they must also be counted in terms of loss of jobs, disruption of families, personal privation, and anxiety about the future. In the whole history of our Nation, we have not before encountered such massive destruction over so wide-spread an area as a result of natural disaster.

Individuals, private groups and governments have responded magnificently to this calamity in the finest tradition of neighbor helping neighbors. The stamina, the courage and the spirit to fight back and recover are already evident throughout the devastated areas. My statement of July 12, 1972 summarized these impressive efforts. I also pointed out at that time, however, that an unparalleled disaster requires extraordinary measures to help in recovery. I announced my intention to recommend to the Congress supplementary and massive measures aimed at short and long-term recovery. I herewith transmit those recommendations, and the proposed legislation to carry them out.

My proposals are in three parts.

First, I propose the Agnes Recovery Act of 1972. This measure deals with disaster loans for homeowners, farmers and businessmen. Because of the unprecedented scope of the destruction, unprecedented measures to deal with it are required. Under the provisions of this proposal, disaster loans for Agnes victims would be changed from present law in the following ways:

—The maximum amount of principal which can be cancelled or forgiven would be increased from $2,500 to $5,000 on loans made by the Small Business Administration or the Farmers Home Administration.

—The forgiveness feature would be applicable to the first dollar of a loan rather than after the repayment of the first $500 of principal as is now the case.

—The interest rate on the loans would be dropped to 1 percent instead of its current rate of 5⅛ percent.

This liberalized assistance to individual homeowners and small businessmen can mean the difference between recovery and bankruptcy or ruin. The situation is urgent. Individual people are now making decisions on whether to rebuild or not. While my proposal would apply retroactively to all victims of Agnes, it is important to them to know now the terms of assistance which will be available to them.

Therefore, I call on the Congress to respond to this emergency by acting on the Agnes Recovery Act so that it can become law within one week.

Second, I recommend supplemental appropriations totaling $1,569,800,000 for this emergency, the largest single request of its kind in our history. The vast majority of these funds would be used for disaster loans, with $1.3 billion for the Small Business Administration and $1.8 million for the Farmers Home Administration. The SBA funds would be used to provide loans for homeowners and small businessmen in disaster areas whose property has been damaged or destroyed. The FHA funds would provide sufficient personnel to process expeditiously loan requests in rural areas, for which adequate loan funds now exist. Also included in my supplemental request are:

—An additional $200 million for the President's Disaster Relief Fund, to speed repair and reconstruction of public facilities and to provide temporary housing, food and unemployment compensation.

—$40 million for the Economic Development Administration, $16 million for the Appalachian Regional Commission and $12 million for the Corps of Engineers, all to assist in the recovery of damaged communities. The funds for the Corps of Engineers would go toward flood control projects in the Susquehanna River Basin.

Third, I recommend that the existing authorization for appropriations for highway emergency relief be increased by $200 million. Current authority limits amounts to $50 million per year, which is clearly not adequate to cope with a disaster of this magnitude.

I urge that the Congress also act promptly on these second and third proposals.

The Federal Government must act quickly and decisively to do its part in providing relief and aiding recovery in a cooperative effort with the States and communities struck by Agnes. We can do no less. I am confident that the Congress will share this view.

NOTE: The message was released at San Clemente, Calif. In announcing the message, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler stated, "The President has also instructed members of his staff to work with Congress to effect legislation which would give coverage benefits to victims of the Rapid City [South Dakota] disaster equal to those of the victims of Hurricane Agnes."

The text of the proposed legislation, with section-by-section analysis, was included in the release.

For the President's letter to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, see the following item.

Disaster Assistance Following Tropical Storm Agnes

The President's Letter to the Speaker of the House of Representatives Recommending Supplemental Appropriations. July 17, 1972

Sir:

I ask the Congress to consider proposed supplemental appropriations for fiscal year 1973 in the amounts of $1,569,800,000 in budget authority and $20,000,000 in proposals not increasing budget authority.

These appropriations, together with a $200,000,000 Federal highway emergency relief authorization request, which will be sought separately, will provide over $1.8 billion in Federal funds to help repair the damage caused by Tropical Storm Agnes.

These funds will help the hundreds of thousands of Americans who are struggling to rebuild their lives after the destruction wrought by Tropical Storm Agnes. From the earliest days of our Nation, whenever a disaster or hardship struck, Americans have pulled together, neighbors helping neighbors. It is fitting that we carry on this tradition now, in the wake of the worst natural disaster in American history, in terms of property damage and the extent of territory affected.

The details of these proposals are set forth in the enclosed letter from the Director of the Office of Management and Budget with whose comments I concur.

Respectfully,

RICHARD NIXON

NOTE: For the President's message to the Congress on disaster assistance, see the preceding item.

William T. Pecora

Statement by the President on the Death of the Under Secretary of the Interior. July 19, 1972

Dr. William T. Pecora, Under Secretary of the Interior, was a remarkable civil servant and an internationally respected figure in the scientific community. His death today is a sad occasion for everyone who has had the pleasure of working with him and benefiting from his enormous contributions to our Government.

Dr. Pecora's expertise as a leading authority in the field of geology proved invaluable to our country from the day he joined the Interior Department in 1939. He built a shining record for 6 years as Director of the U.S. Geological Survey, and then for 2 years as Under Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

Mrs. Nixon and I extend our heartfelt condolences to his family in their bereavement for this fine American.

Goeran Gentele

Text of the President's Letter to George S. Moore, Chairman of the Board of the Metropolitan Opera Association, on the Death of the Metropolitan Opera's General Manager. July 19, 1972

Dear George:

The untimely and tragic death of Goeran Gentele came as a shock to me personally and to countless fellow Americans.

His tenure at the Metropolitan Opera Association revealed an able man who had a clear perception of his enormous responsibilities to maintain the Metropolitan Opera's prestigious role as a great international opera house, and one who possessed the vision to set new patterns for opera programming in the near future.

Mrs. Gentele and her daughter are in our thoughts and prayers at this difficult time, and Mrs. Nixon and I hope that you will convey to them our deepest sympathy as well as our heartfelt wishes for their recovery.

Sincerely,

RICHARD NIXON

[Mr. George S. Moore, Chairman of the Board, Metropolitan Opera Association, Lincoln Center Plaza, New York, New York 10023]

NOTE: The text of the letter was made available by the White House Press Office. It was not issued in the form of a White House press release.

Mr. Gentele, along with his daughters, Anne and Beatrice, died July 18 in an automobile accident while vacationing on the island of Sardinia in the Mediterranean. Mrs. Gentele and her daughter Janette were injured in the accident.

Disaster Assistance for Ohio

Announcement of Disaster Declaration and Authorization of Federal Assistance Following Tropical Storm Agnes. July 19, 1972

The President today declared a major disaster for the State of Ohio. During the period June 23–27, 1972, high winds and heavy rains associated with Tropical Storm Agnes caused damage in three counties along the Ohio River, and on Lake Erie in two additional counties. The President's action will permit the use of Federal funds in relief and recovery efforts.

In his request for a Presidential declaration, Ohio Governor John J. Gilligan had advised the President that estimates of damage to public and private property exceeded $3,400,000. Federal disaster assistance from the President's Disaster Fund will consist primarily of repair and restoration of public facilities and disaster loans for individuals who suffered losses in the flooding. Ohio would be the seventh State to be eligible for additional assistance under the proposed Agnes Recovery Act of 1972 submitted by the President to the Congress on July 17, 1972.

Federal relief activities in Ohio are being coordinated by the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness. Disaster specialists from OEP's Region 5 Office in Chicago have been in the area, working under Robert E. Connor, Regional Director. Mr. Connor has been designated as the Federal Coordinating Officer to work with the State in providing Federal disaster assistance under Public Law 91–606.
